Franklin vs. Pastor, Feb. 24

MATCHMAKER LARRY ATKINS OF THE Brickman-Goetz-Atkins boxing triumvirate has returned to Cleveland from New York City where he witnesed the Bob Pastor-Gus Lesnevich fight held last Friday night and which saw Pastor register a rather easy victory over the current light-heavyweight champion . . .

Atkins is all enthused over Pastor but the fact that he is, has nothing to do with the business of Pastor fighting Lem Franklin in Cleveland on February 24. . . . All Atkins has to do with Pastor and Franklin is that he signed the bout and outside of seven or eight different reasons, doesn't have any interest at all in the February 24 fracas . . .

Regardless of everything, the Franklin-Pastor coming up is somewhat important inasmuch as a victory for the colored Franklin would put the Clevelander in line for a shot at Joe Louis' heavyweight crown . . . That's what the former Cleveland Plain Dealer Golden Gloves champion has been seeking for the past many months . . . And if he licks Pastor, there's a good chance that he'll get the opportunity of meeting the Brown Bomber for the title . . . Providing of course that Army restrictions will not prevent Louis from defending his crown .

Pastor, of course, is out as a possible opponent for the champion . . . The two have met twice before . . . The first time, Bicycle Bob put up a pretty fair scrap against the title-holder, but the second time Louis knocked him out . . . A third meeting between Paster and Louis would be no drawing card at all . . .

But a Louis-Franklin match would be a honey . . . Franklin, in the opinion of many ring experts, is the only fighter now campaigning who can give Louis a run for his money . . . Having seen Franklin in two of his most recent appearances, this corner is most willing to agree . . . Against Tony Musto, Franklin looked like a great fighter . . . The same was true when he fought Abe Simon . . .

Franklin has a tune-up bout between now and the time he fights Pastor at the Arena . . . On February 10, the Cleveland colored boy is scheduled to fight at Toledo, meeting Al Reiss of Detroit who made a fairly good impression in the recent "White Hope" tournament conducted in the Motor City . . . The Franklin-Reiss bout is a scheduled 10-rounder . . .

It Was Hot That Day In '39

THIS CORNER SAW JOHNSTOWN ROMP home the winner in the Kentucky Derby of 1939 . . . I remember that it was hot and plenty so in the clubhouse at Churchill Downs that Saturday afternoon of May 6, three years ago, but it wasn't until today that I found out how hot it actually was . . .

My good friend Frank G. Menke, Eastern Representative for Churchill Downs, informs me that the temperature that afternoon was 83 degrees, the second hottest Derby Day in the past 15 years . . . Exceeded only by the 84 degrees of May 16, 1931 and tied by the 83 degrees of May 7, 1932 . . .

Menke points out that not a drop of rain has fallen on Derby Day for the past five years, but out of the last 15 derbies, eight have been held on rainy days . . . The champion rainy day, points out Menke, was in 1929 when Clyde Van Dusen, a superlative mudder, won, while 1.19 inches of rain fell around the Louisville area . . . The next wettest was 1928 when Reigh Count was the winner and the precipitation was .62 inches . . .

The Western Division

THIS SCRIBBLER LIKES THE CHANCES of the Western Division stars to defeat the Eastern Division in the American League's first All-Star hockey game at The Arena tonight . . .

I don't know why other than the fact that Coach Bill Cook of the Western Division has named his own first line of Cunningham-Desilets-Locking to start the game tonight . . . This trio will have the benefit of playing on its home ice, and working as a customary unit, will have somewhat of an advantage over any line the Eastern Division can put on the ice at the same time . . .

Other starters for Bill Cook's team tonight will be Pete Bessone of Pittsburgh and Chuck Shannon of Buffalo who will take care of the defense assignments; and Joe Turner of Indianapolis who will open the game in the Western team's net . . .

Here And There

THIS CORNER HAS KNOWN BUD MONROE since Bud was knee-high to a grasshopper, but it wasn't until I received a card from him the other day that I learned he carried around "Leonard J." in front of his surname . . . I'll bet a great majority of his friends didn't know it, either . . .

Monroe, who is stationed at the U. S. Naval Training Station at Norfolk, Va., pens that "this Navy life is really o. k. We get up at 4:45 a. m., and go to sleep at 9:00 p. m. The food and sleeping quarters are excellent." . . .

Bud also writes that he has met Bob Feller, Sam Chapman and Fred Apostoli since he has been at the Norfolk training base . . .

The Central Soup Company and Jerry's Nite Club teams competed in the ABC tournament last Spring at St. Paul . . . Before bowling, they decided that any prizes would be pooled for a joint party . . . Well, one team won $42 . . . But the boys couldn't get together on a date . . . Last week they gave the check to the local Red Cross . . .

Louis Montesi, Memphis bowler, purchased a new bowling ball recently . . . The other day he was driving down the street when he heard a "plotch" on the pavement . . . It developed that his son, barely in his teens, had tossed it out of the car window . . . The ball rolled into an open manhole and rolled several blocks before hired help could recover it . . .

Jane Kelly, a little lady from Fort Atkinson, Wis., found her face awfully red the other night . . . Her ball hooked between the 3 and 10 without disturbing either pin . . .

Bruce Rost of Red Lion, Pa., bowled three games of 151 each . . . He had 11 strikes, 11 spares and 11 open frames . . . Yep, his team lost three . . .

The boys and gals who play the horses might take the following tip from Herman (Juicy) Klein for whatever they think it's worth . . .

The Bahamas Handicap is scheduled to be run at Hialeah this coming Saturday and Juicy says a horse by the name of Eternal Bull is a cinch to finish in front . . .

"That's no bull, either," says Herman, "why my Hialeah correspondent tells me this Eternal Bull has been turning in some sizzling workouts lately. Just the other day he went five-eighths in something like a minute and four-fifths second. Now if that ain't traveling, I don't know what is" . . .

Well, keep the name in mind, anyway . . . Eternal Bull might be alright, at-that . . . Although as a handicapper, Klein is a good broker . . .

Winter is the critical time of year for many species of wild animals . . . Cover grows smaller, and the food supply diminishes . . . In many cases, animals and birds starve for lack of food . . .

In recent years, state, federal and sportsman organizations have combined campaigns to feed the various species of birds and animals during the cold months when food and cover are scarce . . .

For those groups or individuals interested in the Winter feeding of wild animals a recently published bulletin, Feeding Wildlife in Winter, explains what may be done . . . Copies may be obtained free of charge by writing to the Fish and Wildlife Service, Washington, D. C. . . .

Eaton Cage Star May Not Play In Ridgeville Battle

EATON'S chances of victory over Ridgeville in their crucial Lorain County Class B League game this coming Friday night at Ridgeville, were given a severe jolt today when it was learned that Clyde (Junior) Horton, star forward of the Eaton team, will likely be unable to play Friday night.

Horton, who with forward Bob Rothel, has carried the scoring burden for his team the entire cage campaign to date, suffered a badly sprained ankle in Eaton's 50-33 victory over Gratton last week at Eaton. X-rays failed to reveal a fracture, but Horton has been hobbling around all this week and has been unable to take part in any of the team's practices.

Eaton school officials said today that in all probability, Horton will ride the bench Friday night and there is a possibility that he will be out for the rest of the season.

In practice last night, acting coach Robert Burns and his assistant, Dick Hawke, former Eaton star, worked with a new combination in the hopes of finding a suitable combine to take the floor Friday night.

Important Contest

The Ridgeville-Eaton game brings together two of the strongest teams in Lorain County and will have a direct bearing on the championship outcome. A victory for Ridgeville would mean that team at least a championship tie and in all probability, an outright claim to the loop title. An Eaton triumph, on the other hand, would no doubt see the final result a three-way tie among Ridgeville, Eaton and Henrietta.

Ridgeville record in league play is eight victories and no defeats. Eaton has won six and lost one, while Henrietta has won eight and lost one. The league season is scheduled to close on February 13 Friday's game is the last loop game of the season for Henrietta, Ridgeville closes its league season with Avon February 13. Eaton plays Avon Lake on February 10 and Columbia on February 13.

Oils Triumph On Oberlin March Of Dimes Cage Bill

OBERLIN, Feb. 3—The "March of Dimes" benefit cage program for the Infantile Paralysis Fund staked here last evening was an outstanding success with a packed house on hand at the Oberlin High gym to witness the two-game program.

The main game saw the Oberlin Janby Oils, who had a 29-game winning streak broken last week, return to the victory column with a 50-47 overtime triumph over the Bellevue Y. M. C. A. quintet. The contest ended 45-45 and with the score tied at 47 points in the extra session, Joe Varsa dropped in three foul shots to give his team the victory. Varsa led the game's scoring with 20 points on eight field goals and four fouls while Scherf was high for the visitors with 17 markers.

In the preliminary, the Oberlin Odd Fellows outlasted the Oberlin High Old-Timers to take a 27-17 decision after the veterans had put up a stiff battle for most of the first three quarters.

Major Loops Undecided On Night Game Question

By George Kirksey
United Press Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Feb. 3 —(U.P.)—The two major leagues were in accord today on everything except night baseball and Commissioner Kenesaw Mountain Landis was expected to settle their differences in a joint session.

The American League apparently wants to allow its clubs to play an unlimited number of night games at home.

The National League is believed to favor a limit of 14 night games at home for each club, or double the present number.

Landis will decide the number of night games which will be added to the regular schedule in line with President Roosevelt's expressed hope for more nocturnal contests.

Clark Griffith, owner of the Washington Senators, and Don Barnes, president of the St. Louis Browns, are the leaders in the drive to increase night games.

Larry MacPhail of Brooklyn, father of night baseball in the majors, is the bitterest foe of the extremists. MacPhail fears that once the limit on night baseball gets out of hand the game never will return to its present status of seven night games at home for each club.

While the majors are at loggerheads over the night ball question, they are in accord on all other questions pertaining to the national emergency and the mutual problems.

Two All-Star Games

They have agreed to play two all-star games next Summer and to donate the proceeds — a sum which may reach $175,000—to the bat and ball fund for the service training camps.

The first all-star game will be played in a National League park in New York Monday, July 6, and the second at an American League park in the west—probably Cleveland or Detroit—Tuesday July 7. The all-star game originally was scheduled for Ebbets Field, Brooklyn, July 7.

There's a good chance Larry MacPhail may shift the game to the Polo grounds, because of the approximately 20,000 more seats there.

Ticket prices will be doubled for the eastern game with a sum of more than $100,000 possible. For the western game regular season prices will prevail but a charge of $1 will be added to each ticket, entitling the purchaser to $1 worth of defense stamps. If the second game is played at Cleveland it'll be staged at night and a gate of $70,000 is possible. If played at Detroit it'll be held in the afternoon.

The majors are planning to raise $500,000 in the next two years for the bat and ball fund.

The two leagues agreed to install a voluntary payroll allotment of 10 per cent for defense stamps. This will apply to players, office workers and everybody from the two league presidents on down.

Jewelers Whip Auditors, Deadlock For "B" Title

STANDING

(First Half Final)	W	L	Pct.
Alheit Auditors	4	1	.800
Vic Silver Jewelers	4	1	.800
Western Flyers	3	2	.600
Western Bullets	3	2	.600
Y. M. C. A.	1	4	.200
Ridge Tool	0	5	.000

In a closely contested and hard fought game in which they held the lead all the way, the Vic Silver Jewelers last night upset the Alheit Auditors, 36-32, on the Jefferson Junior High court and thereby threw the first half City Class B Basketball League final outcome into a two-way deadlock for the title.

Thus a playoff game between the Auditors and Jewelers will be necessary to decide matters. Date of the playoff has not been set.

Brouse, Jewelers' guard, paced the game's scoring with 13 points, while Morse of the Auditors was second in line with 11. Rombardt contributed 10 markers to the Jewelers' attack.

Flyers Are Beaten

The race for the first half title might have resulted in a three-way deadlock had the Western Flyers won last night. Regarded as the stronger of the two Western teams, the Flyers didn't prove the point last night when they went down before the Western Bullets, 33-30. The contest was a nip-and-tuck battle all the way with the lead changing hands on several occasions. In the final two minutes with the Bullets out in front, the winners took possession of the ball and "froze" it for the duration.

Urig led the Bullets' scoring with nine points, but game scoring honors went to Larry Coleman of the Flyers who sank 11 markers, Zalenski being next in line for the Flyers with 10.

The remaining game played last night saw the Y. M. C. A. quintet register its first league win at the expense of the hapless Ridge Tool team, 35-21. Rodak dropped in 14 points to lead the "Y" team's scoring while Cartwright's eight markers were high for the losers. This game was a battle for the first half, which ended with the "Y" in front by only two points, 14-12.

Emerson Takes Limb To Predict Class A Cage Tournament Winners

By James Emerson
United Press Staff Correspondent

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 3 —(U.P.)—As the wheel of tournament fortune begins to turn for 1,117 Ohio schoolboy basketball teams, this brash correspondent feels the irresistible urge to rush in where experts fear to tread.

That annual February foolishness for long-range forecasting of Class A tourney results is with us again. Although perennial, this occupational disease is harmless except for letters from irate subscribers beginning: "Boy, are you crazy to pick Podunk and overlook Gedunk."

We will be very conservative and not name a state champion for you but you can safely put the family tires on the district selections (or any others you want to draw from a hat.)

In crawling out on this limb, we carefully took into consideration the current season records, the past tournament records and the normal caliber of tournament opposition for these favorites. The selections are not limited to one favorite in certain districts where more than one outstanding contender has emerged.

Anyhow, here goes (with season records in parentheses):

CENTRAL DISTRICT—
Favorite—Newark (13-2); alternates—Columbus South (10-0), Columbus North (8-3); defending champion—Newark.

EASTERN DISTRICT—
(Eastern Half) Favorite Martins Ferry (14-0). Alternates—Tiltonsville (12-1), Steubenville (9-3); defending champion—Martins Ferry.
(Western Half) Favorite—Dover (10-3); alternate—Cambridge; defending champion—Zanesville (8-5).

NORTHEASTERN DISTRICT—
(Youngstown meet, two to be named). Favorites—Canton McKinley (8-3), Warren; Canton Timken (11-1); alternate—Youngstown East (7-5). Defending champions—Canton McKinley, Youngstown Rayen (6-3).
(Kent meet, two to be named). Favorites—Akron North (11-0); Akron South (10-3); alternate—Massillon (7-4); defending champions—Massillon, Springfield Twp. (6-3).
(Euclid Shore meet, one to be named). Favorite—Cleveland Hts. (8-1), alternate—Lakewood (7-3); defending champion—Lakewood.

NORTHWESTERN DISTRICT—
(Defiance Tourney). Favorite—Defiance (12-2); alternate—Wauseon; defending champion Bryan (7-5).

(Dayton Tourney, two to be named). Favorites—Xenia Central (11-1), Middletown (9-2); Monroe (11-0), alternate—Greenville (10-0); defending champions—Xenia Central and Middletown.
Three super-specials—Martins Ferry, Newark, Akron North.

Ferry Has Close Shave

Newark was shaken last week by a startling 47 to 41 upset by Dover for Newark's first loss in 10 games. Martins Ferry had the closest shave of its undefeated season and had to stage a great rally to edge Steubenville, 47 to 46. The defending state champs trailed 34 to 20 at halftime and 41 to 29 at the third quarter before surging back to extend their victory string to 30 straight. The Ferrymen made its 31 straight Friday night by thumping Toronto, 60 to 30.

Only four schools dropped from the unbeaten ranks last week, leaving 25 still unbeaten. Dropping initial games were Powhatan (on a forfeit to Yorkville); Upper Arlington (to Bexley, 34-33); Toledo Sylvania (to Toledo Woodward, 38-29); Margaretta (to Norwalk St. Paul's 30-22).

Powhatan was declared loser at Yorkville when Coach Danny Pilosopo pulled his team from the floor in the third quarter with Yorkville leading, 33 to 21.

Pilosopo was incensed when referee Jim Dixon ejected two Powhatan players for alleged abusive language.

Sylvester (Stretch) Goedde of Vaughnsville continued his scoring rampage by notching 49 points as Vaughnsville defeated Hoaglin-Jackson, 69-60. Goedde now has 366 points in 12 games, a remarkable average of 30.5 per contest.

Daryl Gregory of Vinton Rural collected 33 as Vinton downed Hamden, 68-27, giving Gregory 351 in 14 for a 25-point average. Glenn (Lefty) Nelson of Washington Township cracked the old season scoring mark of 484 points set by Tom Kinkade of Toronto when Nelson tallied 20 points to run his season total to 500 in 21 games, an average of 23.7.

Here are the undefeated teams (with number of games in parentheses): Toledo Central Catholic, Ames-Berge (16), Ridgeway (15), Akron North, Martins Ferry, Lorain-Clearview, McCutchenville (14); Margaretta Twp., Troy City Tarlton-Amanda-Clearcreek (13); Lockland-Wayne, Anna, Columbus St. Charles, Bremen, Webster Twp., Georgetown (12), Monroe (11); Coldwater, Greenville, Columbus South, New Concord (13), Athens, Cleveland Glenville (9).
